Humphreys Challenges Lt. Governor to Christmas Charity Challenge Debate, Now Over $25,000

(Eagle, Idaho) Ed Humphreys, GOP candidate for Idaho Governor, has challenged the Lt. Governor to a live debate, moderated by Kevin Miller, with a $10,000 Christmas Challenge that has now reached over $25,000.

“The conservative field needs to be whittled down to one candidate so that the strongest candidate can take on the Governor who is openly receiving support from Democrats and left-wing groups,” Humphreys said.

“We started the challenge with $10,000 from one donor who will give the dollars to charity. Since the announcement on our FB post late last week additional supporters have pushed the debate Christmas charity challenge to over $25,000,” he added.

“I’m sure the Lt. Governor is not afraid to share her ideas with the State of Idaho in an open, fair debate with a conservative moderator,” he concluded.
